

January 26, 2018

To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Bryan Renart and I am a co-worker and friend of Michael Falanga. I have had the pleasure of knowing and working with Michael for over 10 years. Prior to his most recent promotion, I was Michael's manager. I met Michael when he was 23 coming out of college and he was mature and responsible beyond his age; something he attributes to losing his father at a young age. Michael is hard-working and an effective leader who manages and is responsible for nearly 100 employees. Throughout our years of working together, I have gotten to know Michael on a personal level. He is trustworthy, caring and loyal to friends and family. Michael will never hesitate to go out of his way to help anyone whenever the opportunity presents itself.

Over the years of knowing Michael, my wife and I have also had the opportunity to get to know his wife Melissa. Melissa is caring, patient and is genuinely a great person. In the time I have known Melissa, I have never witnessed her lose her patience or hesitate to give someone a helping hand in any chance that she gets. Melissa loves to cook and has done a great job hosting large parties on several occasions that I have been a part of.

Melissa and Michael have a strong bond and the support they provide for each other is admirable. My wife and I have trusted Melissa and Michael to watch our kids on multiple occasions over the last five years. Our son who is now 14 and our daughter, who is now 10, enjoyed spending time with Melissa and Michael. I have witnessed firsthand how hard Melissa and Michael have tried to have a baby and complete their family. I also personally know how much it would mean to them to be able to have a child of their own and how much they deserve to be parents. Knowing both of their characteristics, as well as witnessing firsthand how good they have been with my children there is no doubt in my mind they would make great parents. A child placed in their home would receive unconditional love and support.

Please feel free to contact me if needed and I thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,

Bryan Renart

(718) 473-6001

Bry0916@aol.com